THE EXTRA DUTIES.

When Buenos Ayres was attacked—when the invaders had stamped their foot-prints on this province, and the whole country was led to expect nought save a universal sacking—when the Gaucho Saa was threatened upon the peaceable and industrious residents of Buenos Ayres—there was found one man who had "the forehead" to defend us. Bartholomew Mitre hurled defiance at the Provincial Huns who threatened such awful retaliation, we know with what success.

Let it not be supposed for one moment that we recur to those events to excite hostility between the porteño and provinciano; far from it. We wish to bury in oblivion all these old sores. There is, and there should be, but one flag for this nation; but the history of the 'extra duties' dates from that eventful period.

In that troubled time there was found at first everything, save funds, to repel the invaders. A call for money was made on the people, and it was honorably responded to. Every dollar that was required to defend Buenos Ayres was furnished, every real that was demanded was paid. Fifty millions of paper money were emitted, and foreigners vied with the natives in respecting the currency and supporting the Government.

Owing, however, to the lamentably depreciated state of the currency, it was deemed necessary that in order to redeem this extra emission of paper money a sinking fund should be created.

'Hedged round' by all the solemnities of the law, an act was passed creating 'extra duties' on our imports and exports, for the sole purpose of redeeming this extra emission, and rescuing the paper currency from a dilution which would otherwise result in reducing its value to 'Zero.'

The principal importers and exporters of this country are foreigners, consequently these extra duties, or, in other words, the redemption of the emission, fell principally upon foreigners.

Every bale of wool, every dry or salted hide we exported, every article we imported, paid 2½ per cent. extra duty. The merchant, or barraquero, knew the bargain, agreed to it, and complied.

The extra duties is exclusively a foreign tax, the householder and the landholder escape it, whilst the importer, the exporter, and the producer have to pay it. Superficial politicians may possibly suppose that such is not the case—that the country at large pays these dues, but we are prepared to prove the contrary.

Our object, however, at present is not to prove who pays it, but to call attention to the fact that it is misapplied.

The extra duties on imports and exports were created for the redemption of the currency, by means of monthly burnings.

For nearly two years the obligation was respected, the solemn compact of the Government with the people performed.

Latterly, however, we perceive that although these extra duties are still collected, the burning of the paper money has been countermanded.

From the highest men in this city, the most patriotic foreigners in the country, we have received complaints on this subject. We find it, therefore, our imperative duty to call attention to the matter.

Forty-four millions of paper money have been already consumed, whilst more than seventy millions have been collected. Every day we pay in thousands of dollars for the imaginary redemption of the currency. We ask—nay, we demand—of President Mitre, to what purposes are there duties applied?

Is it because Pannero draws heavily each week that the extra duties are to be taken to pay him?

No matter what the necessities of the Government may be, we insist upon the strict performance of the contract.

If the National Government wants money to suppress the disturbances in the interior, let it ask for it frankly; every man in the country will respond to the call, but we insist that the extra duties should be applied solely for the purpose for which they were created. The burning of the currency

If it is the object of the National Government to damage the credit of the country—if President Mitre's ambition is to preclude the possibility of ever raising one paper dollar upon Argentine honor, he could not adopt a better course than to begin with a violation of the law of the land, to stop the monthly burnings of the paper money.

But, as we are satisfied that such are neither the intentions of the Govt. nor the wishes of President Mitre—who labours indefatigably for the advancement of the country of which he is President and is the truest friend of the honor of the Argentine nation—we feel that he will thank us for calling his attention to the matter, and giving publicity to the opinions of every foreigner on this subject.

The extra duties are collected each day. The burning of the paper money should be religiously observed.

TRACTION ENGINE COMPANY

We have the pleasure to announce to our readers, and more especially to those engaged in commerce with the interior, that the contractors of this promising enterprise have lost no time in carrying out the first part of their concession with the National Government.

By the 'Mersey,' of Friday last, was remitted some £3,000, in order to bring out, without delay, one or two locomotives, waggons, and passenger cars; and, we believe, two of the promoters will proceed to England, per next mail, in order to superintend personally, their special adaptation to the Pampas, during which few months arrangements will be entered into with the respective Provincial Governments, for the purpose of fully developing the project throughout these immensely productive territories.

In order to fulfil the clause of the contract, requiring the parties interested to effect a preliminary trial, it is intended to bring out two engines, one of an effective force of 60 horse power, or heavy cargo, supplied with its own lifting machinery, and a most powerful illuminating apparatus, to enable the driver to distinguish objects 1½ squares off, when travelling by night. In an ordinary mail, a continuous speed of 4 miles is expected to be performed by this locomotive dragging a load of some 30 tons. The other engine, of lighter weight and less power, is destined or passenger traffic; that is to say, to convey say 50 to 60 passengers, with 1 cwt. of luggage each, at a velocity of 7 to 8 miles per hour. A higher speed is promised by the Company; but, for our own part, we shall be perfectly satisfied if they effect what we have just stated.

The promoters intend (if time should permit them) to bring from England a passenger car for some 20 passengers, specially designed to combine every convenience, one feature being a ladies' compartment;' another a 'miniature kitchen,' to enable the traveller to obtain a 'mate' or a cup of coffee, en route; third, by adopting the North American Railway system, the seats are converted into sleeping berths (a great desideratum to the infirm or invalid.) In fact, we are promised a complete revolution in the mode of travelling in the provinces. Besides these improvements, it is expected that the rates of fare will be much lower than those at present charged.

The waggons are to be able to load in each 500 arrobes of pressed wool. Two of such waggons will arrive with the locomotives to figure in the trial essay. The whole of the machinery, &c., will be shipped, per screw steamer, via Liverpool, so that in five or six months we may expect to see them on the beach.

As our readers are aware, we were at first very incredulous as to the favourable result of this enterprise, but really we must admit, that the trials carried out by order of several foreign governments, and, more than all, the employment of these machines in conveying copper ore 150 miles, over an unbeaten track, in the wilds of Australia, give us every hope that a like success will attend them in these provinces. Such a result would effect miracles, in putting down Chacho's; in bringing into contact with each other the people of rival provinces; in developing agriculture, mining, cotton, and tobacco planting, and a thousand and one industries, which now are paralysed for want of an economical system of transport.

If the experiments prove satisfactory, we hope in some two or three years to see trains of produce from Tucuman, Mendoza, and San Juan, en route for Cordoba, forming themselves the pioneers and feeders of the railway, and so, in a short time, the whistle of the locomotive will rouse the Argentine into activity, and give him other thoughts and ideas. Instead of being the foolish dupe of the politician, or the blind follower of an insurgent chief, we hope the 'gaucho' will see that his own interests are coupled with industry and peace.

Let these locomotives be once established, and the whole face of the country must undergo a rapid change. In place of the wretched 'puesto,' and half savage postilion, with here and there some miserable rancho, and a gang of prowling Indians hovering in the rear of the diligence, we hope to see the smiling corn field, the sheep flock, cotton and tobacco, under cultivation, and the quartz crusher busily at work.

We congratulate the promoters of this enterprise, and hope they will not be daunted by any trifling difficulty, or deterred from their purpose by any obstacle, but persevere, and we feel sure a brilliant success must attend them.

LATEST FROM ENTRE RIOS

The Salto arrived yesterday morning from the Uruguay, bringing dates from Conception to the 28th inst.

A new college has been opened at the Tala, under the direction of Dn. Agustin Amezaga. Three Englishman, whose names we have not heard, have applied to the Government to purchase a large tract of Government land (more than 60 leagues). It is said that they have sheep in the Banda Oriental, and are about, in consequence of the duration of the Flores revolution, to leave that country, and to settle down in Entre Rios.

A Mr. Taylor, the son of an Englishman, has opened an escribanos office in Concepcion.

An Irish gentleman lately arrived we understand has bought up all the maize and wheat crops, and it is said will make a great deal of money out of the speculation.

The heat is so great in Entre Rios, that the Government has ordered all the public offices to be open only for three hours, from ten to one each day

The town of Concepcion de Uruguay is improving rapidly; it is at present the most lively place in Entre Rios.

Dr. Rawson's circular to Governer Urquiza accompanying the law of elections passed by Congress, has created a great deal of talk amongst the politicians. It is generally thought that the law will be a dead letter in Entre Rios.

The 21st November was a great day day in Concepcion; the townspeople celebrated some victory over the soldiers of ex-Governor Alsina; there was however no rioting, Lopez Jordan it appears signalised himself most bravely on that memorable day. He is by far the most popular man in Entre Rios.

The Government of course took no part in the celebration of the 21st, but a young man named Jacinto Calvo (any relation of Don Nocolas?) gave a great jollification 'carne con cuero,' ale, porter and caña. In the evening the club gave a ball at which all the youth and beauty of the country assisted. Several foreigners were also present

Governor Urquiza has just commuted the sentence of death which was given by the judges against Branlio Castañeda, who had been convicted of the murder of a man named Deluchi. Urquiza states in his decree that as the murderer is an old soldier of Entre Rios, and as the crime was committed in a regular fight, that he considers that Branlio should not be executed; he condemns the man to six years service in the Entre Riano army.

Urquiza has finished shearing, and is now baling his wool to deliver.

An Irish gentleman recently arrived from England has been up visiting his Excellency; he states that he was most hospitably received, and speaks in the highest terms of this much abused man and his family. The garden at San Jose is one of the finest things of the kind in South America, the camps however are suffering from drought, but as the lands are not so thickly stocked as in Buenos Ayres, the sheep have plenty to eat, but the cattle are very poor.

The Entre Rianos are beginning to take greatly after foreigners. In Gualeguay the cemetery required repairs, and the Chief of Police, who is an active intelligent man, at once proposed a bazaar, which has resulted in the most decided success. Every one in the place attended, and a much larger sum than what was required was collected.

Several small cotton farms are doing very welll in the neighbouhood of Gualeguay. The Sea Island seed however missed.

People in Entre Rios expected to see Flores on the coast of the Uruguay again, as soon as he tired out Medina.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The non-arrival of the Paraguay steamer has caused a deal of anxiety. It is believed that as the river Paraná is excessively low at present, that she has run aground some place near Goya.

Yesterday there was a grand funeral ceremony held in the College Church, for the repose of the soul of the lamented Mr. Riglos; the attendance was very large.

The elections on Sunday were, as usual, the cause of all sorts of rioting. At the Concepcion parish no elections could be held, as the tables was upset and all the respectable people left. At the Merced and San Nicolas there was very severe fighting, but no knives or revolvers. We regret to hear that a young man named Rodriguez, received a blow on the head which sent him reeling a few yards, wounding him severely. Dr. Mesquita who seems to have been the great opposition candidate, was defeated everywhere. In some of the parishes, a number of Italians' and Basques' were introduced, but they left as soon as they saw the row beginning. At Pilar and Socorro the elections were quiet and orderly.

The Northern Railway, it is rumoured, will be opened on the 15th inst., to San Fernando. The brick work of the station house and goods depot is finished, as also the earthworks and rails laid. The business of this road is now becoming so important, that an extension of the road to the River Lujan is talked of; and, we believe, the Government look very favourably on the measure.

Politicians and unemployed soldiers have their attention at present concentrated on Entre Rios; and the talk in the clubs is the impossibility of escaping a war with Entre Rios, on the assumption of office by the new governor. It is said that the National Government has received intelligence of a conspiracy which is going on in Entre Rios to upset the new governor, and put in Don Lopez Jordan. Of one thing there is no doubt, and that is, that all the muskets and gunpowder in the city is bought up, and Martin Garcia is becoming a regular Gibraltar.

We hear that a fellow-countryman lost the other day $14,000. As these losses are becoming now a matter of rather frequent occurrence, we think it right to caution our friends from carrying their wool money about them. We can safely recommend to our country friends, either or both of our private banks. The Maua Savings Bank receives sums from $25 upwards, and allows six per cent. interest.

It is with the greatest satisfaction that we learn the judge has at last condemned the murderer of poor Kirby and his peon, to be shot. The sentence has arrived in town from the Villa Mercedes, and has only to be approved of by the judge here, to be carried out. We cannot refrain from remarking that this case has caused the greatest attention in the camp, as it was by many believed that notwithstanding all the trouble and expense Irishmen took in arresting the murderer, he would ultimately escape capital punishment. We are happy for the honor of the country to say that such is not the case the judge in the Villa Mercedes has discharged his duty after a most careful investigation into the case, and condemned the man to be shot. The execution of this murderer will have the most salutary effect, in the country districts. One of the greatest incentives to crime has been the impunity which it enjoyed. Vagrant ruffians, who prowl about the country, stealing horses and sheep, and murdering peaceable inhabitants will now receive a lesson, which will teach them that foreigners are determined to spare no expense to catch all such villains, and that the authorities of the country are resolved to punish them.

Some friends who went to Belgrano last Sunday complain that Mr. Deacon is not an early riser, and that they could not get a breakfast before eight o'clock. We really think that eight o'clock is early enough to have breakfast in such a place as Belgrano where pleasure, not business, is the order of the day.

THE GOLDEN EAGLE

Captain Chapman of the 'Rio Negro,' called on us yesterday to say that he had read the observations published in the 'Standard' of the 29th, respecting the statement of the Mate of the Golden Eagle.

Captain C. states that when he saw the Golden Eagle she was on shore at Point Piedras, with a Union Jack flying forward. In a half an hour afterwards, being about 7 miles from her, she signalized with the Maryatt signals "I've got on shore," to which he could not answer, not having any flags on board, only having the book. Captain Chapman wishes to know why the Capt. of the Golden Eagle did not hoist his ensign Union down, as is always customary in cases of distress. It was blowing very strong, but if the Capt of the Golden Eagle had hoisted signals, asking Capt. Chapman to stop by him, he would have done so. In reference to the charge of his having only informed the wreckers of the state of the Golden Eagle, Capt. C. distinctly asserts, that immediately on his landing he informed Don Mariano Isasrea of the matter, who at once despatched a pilot boat to her assistance.

We understand that a good deal of the cargo has been saved, and but for the capsizing of one of the lighters sent down, there would have been much more rescued.

PENALOZA'S alias the CHACHO'S DEATH

Although at the first glance this event might indicate a suspension of the wretched bush warfare that owed its origin to the persistance of Peñaloza in combating the revolution, triumphant in 1861, which annihilated the power of his friend, the old President of the Republic, General Urquiza, there are certain circumstances connected with the death of this extraordinary man, which troubles the satisfaction we might otherwise feel at seeing concluded the beastly cut-throat doings in the province of the Rioja.

The power of Peñaloza had risen to such a height, at all events in men, that he marched upon San Juan, undoubtedly under the erroneous impression that the lower orders in that province would join his standard.

He was mistaken in his calculations, however, and his army of about a thousand men was ignominiously defeated by a third part of their number in Caucete, seven leagues from the town of San Juan.

The fugitives were taken in their flight by other bodies of Federal troops, and suffered severely.

It is not known whether Peñaloza commanded this expedition in person. From the most reliable information we have been able to obtain, we are led to believe that he did not, but was awaiting the arrival of an envoy from the National Government with answers to his propositions for peace.

Whether these propositions were made in good faith or not, it is, of course, difficult for us to determine.

To a little town or hamlet, called Olta, in the province of Rioja, Penaloza, his wife and an adopted son, had retired.

The old man was alone. Of this circumstance the Federal troops were informed, and an officer of the militia of San Juan, with a party of thirty men was sent, or went of his own accord (we have not been able as yet to procure all the details) to secure the prize.

This dastardly ruffian, instead of taking Penaloza prisoner, and delivering him to General Pannero, the commander of the Federal forces, coolly took him out of the house, and in sight of his wife and son, shot the old man like a dog.

This man is a 'Sanjuanino,' and certainly is worthy of that charming town in which the people have already murdered six governors, and where, under the present Governor, the body of a criminal was ordered to be drawn and quartered, and the pieces to be distributed about the town!

General Penaloza, as we have before remarked, was an extraordinary man. 'Unitario,' in the time of the tyrant Rosas, he cost the Argentine Dictator many millions of dollars and many years of warfare, before he was finally subjugated.

Faithful ally of Urquiza, he carried this sentiment of adhesion beyond the bounds of common prudence, for notwithstanding the acquiescence of his loved chief in the change which placed the destinies of the country in the hands of Buenos Ayres, Penaloza, with only the instincts acquired in the wild nomad life of the plains, could not accommodate himself to the change.

He has cost many millions to the country, and has caused the sacrifice of many lives, but to his honour be it said, that a more humane man never lived in this country, and honesty and ignorance resided side by side in his breast.

What is to be feared now is, that without the humane influence of Penaloza, his chiefs may commit all kinds of outrages, for we know none of them who enjoy the same good character as did the Chacho for humanity.

At all events, even if the peace of the country be assured, we should be false to every sense of civilised feeling not to stigmatize the wanton assassination of an old man of seventy-five, as a most unnecessary act of imprudent cruelty, and we congratulate the Government that it was not committed by an officer of the regular army.—Ferro Carril.

NEW ZEALAND.

We regret to see that a most frightful war is raging in New Zealand. At the sailing of the French packet the English Government was sending out soldiers, &c., by several steamers to the relief of the colonists.

A war of race has been commenced and it is now probably raging with fierceness in New Zealand. Such is the news by the last mail. It seems that hostilities were regularly begun about the middle of July last. On the 17th of that month we learn that Captain Ring, with a subaltern and 50 men, were attacked while escorting a train of waggons. No sooner had they entered the bush than they came under a fire of musketry on both flanks. The Maories kept in the bush until they had knocked over part of the convoy, when they dashed over the road, and then tried to cut the detachment in two. They turned their efforts chiefly towards the rear-guard, fourteen men, thus isolated and left to maintain a fight with outnumbering forces. Capt. Ring found himself obliged to retire into a neighbouring clearing, with a loss of four killed and ten wounded. On the same day General Cameron had himself attacked and routed "the enemy." General Cameron reports that he crossed the Maugatawhiri on the 12th with 380 men, and encamped on the Kohiroa, where he proposed making a redoubt to secure the communication between the Queen's redoubt and the stockade on the Waikato. At the same time Colonel Wyatt, with three hundred men, marched from Drury, and encamped on a height overlooking the Waikato, and commanding its navigation, where a redoubt would also be at once constructed. Four days after his arrival on the Koniroa, Colonel Austen, of the 14th, commanding the camp, noticed that a body of Maories in had collected his front. He at once got under arms and moved against them. Reinforcements from the 12th and 70th having arrived, they followed raising the force to 500 men. General Cameron was on his way to the camp, and came up with the regiments on the march. The troops, in skirmishing order, went on for two miles. Then they came within range and the Maories opened fire, but as the Britishers did not stop, the Maories fell back towards the Maramama, fighting all the way. "Some of their positions," writes the general "which had been recently fortified by lines of rifle-pits, and which, from the nature of the ground, could not be turned, they defended with great obstinacy, and as we had no artillery in the field they could be only dislodged from them by successive attacks with the bayonets." The 14th stormed the pits, it is stated, with great gallantry, and the enemy was pursued for five miles, until he fell at last into confusion and hurried away, harrassed by the fire. Colonel Austen and ten privates of the 14th were wounded. From the 17th of July to the beginning of August no further movement had been made. The Maories confined their efforts, it is said, to committing murders, and William Thompson had given notice that neither armed nor unarmed would be spared. All the London papers have leaders on the news from New Zealand. The Daily News says it is a war of races and must be brought to a close with the utmost promptitude, by sending whatever supplies of men and material may be required. The Times remarks that the future prosperity of New Zealand will depend on the event of this war which has so long menaced it, and nothing should be spared to make the operations effective and the victory complete.

MEXICO.

The 'Memorial Diplomatique' says: "Before quitting Europe for ever, for Mexico, the Archduke Maximilian and Archduchess propose to visit the court of the Tuilleries, passing en route through Brussels, where the august couple will take leave of King Leopold and his family. Three members of the Mexican deputation have left for Vienna, whence, they will proceed to Paris, where they will make their preparations for the voyage to Vera Cruz. Three other members of the deputation will proceed to Grance, via Vennice and Milan, MM. Gutierrez de Estrada, Aguilar Hidalgo, and Arrangoiz will remain a few days longer at Miramo, the Archduke wishing to consult them upon the organic statutes of the future charter of Mexico. The 'Memorial Diplomatique' considers this last indication as conclusive that the Candidacy of the Archduke Maximilian has finally passed from the state of a simple project into a practical phase, and says this is so true that, at a grand banquet given by M. Revoltella, the banker, at his palace, to the Mexican deputation, at which were present, among others, the Major and President of the Chamber of Commerce of Trieste. The principal toast proposed was in honor of their Majesties the Emperor and Empress of Mexico. 'The Memorial Diplomatique' also says the Emperor of the French, immediately on becoming acquainted with the reply made by the Archduke Ferdinand Maximilian to the deputation commissioned to offer him the Crown of Mexico, addressed an autograph letter to the Archduke, expressing in the most eulogistic terms, complete approbation of this reply.

The English Earthquakes.

We read in one of the London papers the following interesting statistics respecting Earthquakes in England.

255 earthquakes have been felt in England. One shock which was felt throughout England occurred in 1089; a shock was "severely felt" at Lincoln in 1142; another was felt throughout England in 1274; and "the greatest ever known" in this country happened on the 14th November, 1828. An earthquake was felt in London in 1084, when part of St. Paul's and the Temple Church fell; and another shock was "severely felt" in Ireland in 1690. The most violent shock in modern times took place in Scotland on the 23d October, 1839. The last shock in England, until Tuesday, was on the 9th November 1852.

The Brazilian Question.

We regret to perceive that the Brazilian difficulty is still unsettled.

The Morning Post says the Emperor of Brazil has refused the King of Portugal's offer of his good offices to close the quarrel with England, and declared, it is said, he will be content with nothing but an apology from the British Government.

AMERICAN MAILS—ACCIDENT TO THE AFRICA.

(By Telegraph to Cape Race)

St. John's, Newfoundland, Oct. 13.

The outward-going Royal mail steamship Africa struck in a dense fog near Cape Race on Monday night (the 12th). She was ashore half an hour, but got off, making much water, and bore up for St. John's, where she arrived to-day.

The ship has been beached and must discharge. The injury is suppos d, is supposed to be extensive, and the cargo is damaged.

Accident to Her Majesty.

As her Majesty was returning to Balmoral, on Wednesday, with Prince Louis of Hesse and Princess Helena, the coachman mistook the road, and the carriage turned on its side, by which the Queen and Princess were thrown out, but were merely slightly bruised, and rode home on hill ponies. Her Majesty has driven out every day since.

Sir James Clarke left London, last week, to attend her Majesty after her accident, but, as already stated, her Majesty only received some slight bruises.

INDIA.

Rumoured Rebellion.

The Times City article says the present Indian mail has brought a copy of the Colombo Observer of the 4th September, containing a special telegram, transmitted from Bombay on the 2nd, to the effect that the Panjaub had been invaded by 7,000 men, who had crossed the Indus to British territory, that they were thought to be the vanguard of a large force, and that the first Punjaub Infantry and Mountain Train had been sent against them. They are supposed to be headed by one or more sons of Dost Mahomed. The Calcutta correspondent of the Times says we have sent a detachment of the Punjaub irregular force and her Majesty's 101st Regiment to the Judon frontier at Ulm, on the Indus, as a precautionary measure. A great camp of exercise, consisting of 12,0 0 men, will be formed at Lahore in the cold season. A large escort also with a branch camp will accompany the Viceroy of Peshawur. Altogether it is well known that next season all our political and military personages will be in the Punjaub. The same correspondent states the official reporter on the Bengal field has now been sanctioned by the government of India. It will be the duty of the official translator to send in a report every week of the 'social and political contents of the native papers.

M. NADAR'S BALLOON.

Paris, Oct. 21.

A friend of M. Nadar has received the following despatch:

"We descended near Nienburg, in Hanover, at noon on Monday Our balloon was dragged for several hours, the anchors having been broken, St Felix, my wife, and I are seriously hurt; the others are better. We owe our lives to the courage of Jules Gorard. More detailed news to morrow,"

La France says that M. Gorard, one of the passengers accompanying M. Nadar, opened the balloon with an axe to allow the gas to escape.

The wounded persons from M. Nadar's balloon have been conveyed to this city and placed under the care of the French Legation. The King of Hanover sent an aide-de camp to inquire after their wants M. St. Felix has sustained a fracture of the left humerus, besides contusions on the face. M. Nadar has both legs dislocated. Madame Nadar has sustained a compression of the thorax and contusions on the leg.

LOCAL EVENTS.

MENDOZA WINES.—We read with pleasure that over 200 pipes of wine have been exported to Rosario from Mendoza. It is said that Mendoza and San Juan, with a little care could produce annually wines to the value of one million silver dollars, which the growers would prefer to send to Rosario to any port in the Pacific. There are at present 300,000 squares of cultivated and watered land in these provinces; each square produces about 150 arr. of wine per annum.

EL CHACHO ORIENTAL.—Sor. Marmol, Argentine Minister to the Oriental Republic, in speaking of Flores, stated that for him Flores was nothing more or less than an Oriental Chacho. We are happy to see that so distinguished a porteno views things in their proper light.

LA ZINGARA—This favourite barque of the renowned Commodore Saunders is still loading at Liverpool. She was expected to complete her cargo in a few days, and has a large number of passengers.

OUR STOCKS AT HOME—We read following quotations of Buenos Ayres Stocks in the English papers:—Northern Railway Company, 1 1/4 to 10 3/4; Buenos Ayres Great Southern, 1/4 per cent. prem.; Buenos Ayres Six per Cents., 92 to 94; do. One per Cent. (Deferred Three), 37 to 39; London and River Plate Bank, 11 per cent. prem

CITY IMPROVEMENT.—We are glad to see the horrible paving stones, which so long disgraced some of the principal thoroughfares of our city, are being pulled up, and a good regular street pavement being introduced but the work proceeds very slowly. We hope the Municipality will put on more men, as the blocking up of Calle Rivadavia is a rather serious inconvenience.

SUNDAY.—On last Sunday we were visited with a strong wind and a few showers. In the morning the heat was most oppressive, but about twelve o'clock the wind and rain came, which greatly refreshed the atmosphere.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.—The engineers belonging to this road are expected out in the Mersey. Mr. Muir, who was here formerly as agent of Messrs. Peto and Betts, we understand does not return. A Mr. Crawford, we believe, will be the agent of the contractors. The works will be commenced without delay.

Great and Useful Invention.

No more Mortality for want of Water.

Sure wealth to Estancieros

By the Robert Apparatus.

Being notorious the immense injury occasioned by the scarcity of water during the long seeas that afflicts the camps of Buenos Ayres, I have determined to dedicate to the Estancieros an Apparatus at once simple and infalible for procuring as much water as they may require.

120 Bordalesas per hour (it seems fabulous) is procured with my apparatus, without fear of at any time its getting out of order.

This machine is worked by one horse, and in one day's work can give 1140 Bordalesas; that is to say, sufficient water for 20,000 head of cattle.

By these figures can be calculated the immense advantages gained by its use.

Another advantage is the facility of putting it together and taking it to pieces, so as to be able to transport it to any place where it may be necessary to use it, either for watering purposes or others.

GREAT MODIFICATION.

I have made an improvement in my Apparatus, applying a new system which reduces the necessary force two thirds, giving it at the same time more rapidity.

Those interested can see it at Calle Moreno, No. 310 (Henerrado, Paris).

One sole inspection of the Apparatus will prove to them the superiority of it over any other. ROBERT,

The simplest method is bathing the animal, whether sound or affected, in the manner prescribed by the instructions.

The Specific has been already found an effectual remedy for Insects (Garrapatas).

Numerous certificates may be seen, showing the high repute of the Specific throughout S. America. Its low price places it within the reach of all, 25lb. sufficing for 800 or 1000 Sheep It contains no poisonous quality, and is sold at the above Depots.

ENGLISH GRAMMAR SCHOOL,

CALLE LARGA DE BARRACAS

Dor.—Mr. Pongerard, of the London University College.

This Establishment, which from its foundation has been patronised by the principal British families of Buenos Ayres, is an exact reproduction of an English School where a sound commercial education combined with the acquisition of the French and Spanish languages is imparted to the pupils, and based upon the same system as in all first class European institutions of the kind.

An ever-watchful and constant supervision, and a strict maintenance of order and propriety, are a sufficient guarantee that the morals and behaviour of the pupils are carefully attended to.

The different branches taught in the English Grammar School comprise the English, French and Spanish languages History, Geography, Arithmetic, and Book-keeping in all its parts, Writing, and Religious Instruction.

Extra branches, such as Latin, Mathematics, German, Music and Drawing, are also taught by special masters.

The situation of the English Grammar School, in one of the most delightful Quintas of the Calle Larga of Barracas at the very gates of the city, is one of the most healthful and picturesque of the environs of Buenos Ayres.

DISCOVERY OF THE DAY

The Sheep-farmers and the Public in general.

F. C. Calvert's Phenyline & Therebane's Sheep Salve

The great reputation these specifics have enjoyed in England on account of their extraordinary success in all cases where they have been applied, has induced the proprietor to introduce them in this market on account of the immense sheep-farming interest of the country. To enable sheep-farmers to obviate in future the enormous losses they sustain yearly, not only in the deterioration of the sheep, but also as frequently happens, the loss of the animal itself. It is a powerful antiseptic, and he only asks a fair trial, feeling confident of the result. The following is a list of some of the uses to which these specifics may be applied.

In Sheep—To cure the scab, footrot, scab lice, ticks. In Horses Cankers in the feet, grease, quitter, gangrenous wounds or ulcers, cracked heels, mallenders & Cows distemper, and all diseases of the hoofs.

For wounds or bruises resulting from accident and for all general Veterinary purposes [illegible] are sure. Phenyline is found remarkably successful in the Hospitals, in England for curing Cancer. Therebane is also used for preserving hides, skins, and keeps them free from all vermins and insects, the parcels already cured with it in this city and Australia have met the approval of purchasers in England who report them to be perfectly sound and sweet. The leather made from the hides is also declared to be superior in every respect.

SAVINGS BANK.

BANK MAUA & Co.

— No. 103 calle de Cangallo. —

BUENOS-AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt, and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate—Montevideo & Buenos Ayres—that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence

The Bank of Mauá & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working class in that city a safe & profitable depositary for their savings.

The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of Clerks, artisans, workingmen & servants of all classes & conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries and other frivolities

The Bank of Mauá and Co. of this city following the example of their firm in Montevideo now offer the same facilities in this city and will open on the 1st October a "Savings Bank" at No. 103 calle Cangallo from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. on week days; and on Sundays and holidays from 10 a. m. to 12 m. for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a Pass Book in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited, in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. is sufficiently known to the public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighbourhood.
